Headteacher message –

This term staff are working hard on further developing our Illogan School curriculum and ensuring that all children are accessing a broad and balanced range of subjects. This has meant that I have the privilege of observing lessons, looking at outcomes and, my favourite, talking to children about their learning. Last week I was treated to high quality teaching and learning in Science, Geography, Art, PSHE, PE as well as English and Maths. I really enjoyed looking at progress made in books and hearing what the children are enjoying. As a team we will continue to focus on ensuring that our curriculum gives our pupils the breadth of education that they deserve and prepares them fully for their transition to secondary school.

We are still committed to working with Flying Start Nurseries to provide high quality after school care. If you would use this provision in the period 7th June to the end of the academic year, please complete our survey on Class Dojo before the end of the school day on Thursday. There will be an additional survey in July to gauge commitment for September.
